

Looking for Another Way to Serve Your Country?

FEMA

Join FEMA's National Reservist Team

Military Veterans can serve their fellow citizens during times of disaster and:

- ✓ Generate additional income.
- ✓ Use your skills and learn new ones.
- ✓ Expand your professional network.

FEMA needs on-call reservists in several cadres, including:

Disaster Survivor Assistance

Logistics

External Affairs

Hazard Mitigation

Public Assistance

Individual Assistance

Information Technology

FEMA Reservists, Making a Difference

The Federal Emergency Management Agency coordinates and supports federal disaster response with states, territories, tribal nations and local communities.

"If you like to work with people, if you like to help, if you like a challenge and a job that's not stagnant, being a FEMA reservist is for you."

Col. Willie G. Nunn, U.S. Air Force (Ret)
Federal Coordinating Officer for FEMA

Mission focused deployments similar to Military Support for Civil Authority.

Most reservists are expected to travel to a disaster site within 48 hours of request.

Salary depends on position, background and experience.

Travel and per diem expenses paid.

Healthcare benefits are available.

For more information:

☎ 1-866-896-8003

✉ FEMA-HC-ServiceDesk@fema.dhs.gov

🌐 <http://careers.fema.gov/reservists-program>